

New from FamilyLife:
a weekend getaway
for parents & teens

Passport2Identity

Ministry praise:

Thank God with us for the successful launch of our newest product, Passport2Identity

Praise God for the healing of Cru President, Steve Douglas, from serious heart issues.

Praise God for the successful launch of WTR ministry in a large city in Asia. This is a true miracle.

Over 400 moms attended and were encouraged at the MomLife Bootcamp last weekend.

God is using Google to get Nick's work in church based marriage workshops to those who need it.

The road to adulthood is complicated.
Get directions.

Soon you won't be their authority.
What will?

God wants to shape your teen.
Take part.

A weekend of learning, a lifetime of impact

Prepare your teen
for life,
no expertise
required.

You can't control the future, but you can prepare your teen to flourish in it. Plan a Passport2Identity weekend with your son or daughter today at FamilyLife.com.

Empowering parents to equip their teens

We are excited about our newest product! Passport2Identity helps parents do more than just survive the teen years. It gives them the materials they need to prepare teens for adulthood during a weekend getaway. All they have to do is plan the time and location. We'll provide the tools and talking points to help teens transition to independence through dependence on Christ.

Our newest resource at FamilyLife, Passport2Identity is a stand-alone product or a follow up to our bestselling Passport2Purity. It includes audio lessons and discussion questions from seasoned contributors like Dennis and Barbara Rainey, Voddie Baucham, Rosaria Butterfield, Owen Strachan and Mary Kassian. With these materials in hand and with a parent or mentor as a guide, teens will learn how to make their faith their own, uncover their Christ-centered calling, and take responsibility for their life.

We can't control the future, but we want to help prepare teens to flourish in it.

Family Spotlight: Emily's classical life.

Emily's life has gotten very busy this semester as she winds down her high school years and prepares to graduate next month. She has been taking most of her classes at the local community college this year and has straight A's in them.

She also finished her fashion design training under the tutelage of Jamileh Kamran and has shown her designs in three runway shows. Earlier this year she was chosen to present a line based on the theme of classical music. She was given eight weeks to design and complete a line that fit the assigned theme. She received rave reviews both during and after the show including from designer Tim Gunn, who really liked her design vision and has encouraged her to continue to hone her skills. You can see some of her designs from the show in the pictures on this page.

Last weekend Emily wore a blue and silver dress of her own design to her senior prom. We were both proud and misty eyed as she walked out the door to her final homeschool event before graduation. We wait with eager hearts to see all that God has in store for her.